

https://www.idahopress.com/news/local/second-transportation-master-plan-meeting-feb/article_a5f7ab07-044d-5a59-bca2-11ce4a460965.html

Second transportation master plan meeting Feb. 27

IDAHO PRESS-TRIBUNE STAFF newsroom@idahopress.com 17 hrs ago

Motorists drive down a snowy Seventh Street South on Dec. 6 in Nampa.

Chris Bronson/IPT

Buy Now

NAMPA — The city of Nampa is inviting members of the community to give input about future transportation projects at an afternoon workshop 4 p.m. Feb. 27 at the Nampa Civic Center, according to a press release.

The workshop is part of a project to update Nampa's 30-year master transportation plan. The plan includes information about transportation goals, existing and future roadway needs, bicycle and pedestrian infrastructure and high-priority projects. When complete, it will guide Nampa city staff, city council and regional transportation agencies when choosing which projects should receive funding each year.

"We had an excellent turnout at the first workshop in June," said Senior Transportation Planner Clair Bowman in the press release. "The quality of community input was tremendously helpful in determining priorities for the city's transportation system."

Want more news like this in your email inbox every morning?

Yes!

During the second workshop, participants will have the opportunity to review the city's analysis of future growth, traffic and funding. City staff will present a recommended list of improvements and gather input.

More information about the Nampa Transportation Master Plan is available at cityofnampa.us/transportationmaster. Those who have questions about the planning process are encouraged to contact Bowman at 208-468-5474 or bowmanc@cityofnampa.us.